CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN WASHINGTON

By CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

On last Thursday the House passed the Independent Offices Appropriation Bill, which contained the first appropriation for the new fiscal year, beginning July 1st. An attempt was made by the solid Republican minority to reduce all appropriations for the departments included in the bill, with the exception of the Veterans Administration, by ten percent, as an economy move. However, the Democratic Majority was just as solidly against the amendment to cut government expenditures, and it was defeated by a straight party vote.

Washington has been in somewhat of an uproar over the proposed construction of a large addition to the executive offices of the White House. Just before Congress adjourned in December an appropriation of one million six hundred and fifty thousand dollars was made for "improvements" at the White House. Seemingly the Appropriations Committee did not know what was contemplated. When the proposed plans were published, to add some fifteen thousand feet of floor space to the executive offices, a cafeteria wing and an auditorium, architects, civic leaders and patriotic organizations protested vigorously. The President chose to disregard these protests, and on Thursday an amendment was adopted in the House to the Independent Offices Appropriation Bill, which if approved by the Senate, will prevent work on the project until direct Congressional approval is granted. In debate it was pointed out that the White House belongs to the people, and Congress is simply a custodian, term tenant, and that the historic edifice should not be materially changed without the full knowledge and consent of Congress and the American people generally.

The House is scheduled to begin consideration of and debate on labor legislation Thursday of this week, with the possibility a final vote will be taken by late Saturday. Early last week the House Labor Committee reported out a rather innocuous piece of legislation containing neither the cooling off period nor the authorization for the naming of fact-finding boards, as requested by the President. In all probability this measure will be sent to the floor under a rule which will permit substitute bills of far wider scope to be considered and any amendments offered to be voted upon. In other words, it appears the whole field of labor legislation will finally be opened up for debate and vote in the House. Most observers believe the House will enact a strong measure to meet the present strike and Labor-Management dispute situation. It is not so certain, however, that such a measure will be approved in the Senate, but if so President Truman is expected to veto it. There is little likelihood the two to one vote needed to override a Presidential veto could be obtained.

President Truman submitted a joint State of the Union Budget Message to the Congress last Monday. Exclusive of the budget figures, it was one of the longest messages ever sent to Congress by any President—approximately thirty thousand words. In his message the President reiterated his request for enactment of the legislative program he originally submitted to Congress early in September, and set forth a budget for the fiscal year of 1947, which begins on July 1st next, calling for expenditures of approximately thirty-six billion dollars in the coming twelve months. He estimated income from taxes during the same fiscal year will be approximately thirty-one and one-half billion dollars, and suggested the difference between receipts and expenditures could be made up from cash in the treasury, previously obtained from the sale of Victory bonds in the recent drive.

In submitting his budget estimates for the coming fiscal year the President which would be necessary to care for the proposed four billion four hundred million dollar loan to Britain, if approved by Congress; nor did he mention the loans which are being, and will be, requested by other nations, most of which would be difficult to turn down if the British loan is granted. For instance, Russia has already made public her desire for a six billion dollar loan. France has already borrowed five hundred million dollars and will want considerably more. Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, China, Belgium, Norway, Holland, Finland and Italy have also either requested, or are preparing to ask for, loans from the United States. Total requests for loans from foreign gov-

House Turns Thumbs Down On Truman Bill

President Truman suffered a great setback when most of his party joined with Republicans to turn the United States employment service back to the states. The New Deal wanted to hold on to the bureau. It had been taken from the states during the war by FDR for political purposes under his war-time powers. The vote was 23 to 113.

BUSINESS TRIP TO PITTSBURGH

Mr. Charles Duvall was in Pittsburgh, Pa., this week on business. He reports that he was able to get considerable merchandise that has been critical. Last week he was in Cleveland where he secured merchandise for spring trade.

Board Of Directors Hold Meeting

The board of directors of the Miami Valley Production Credit Association in their reorganization meeting, January 16, 1946, reelected L. S. Foley, Camden as president, Ed Warty, Urbana as vice-president and Martin M. Bonar as secretary treasurer.

COLLEGE NEWS

COMING-HOME COMING-COME!

The date is Saturday, February 9, next week. What is to happen is revealed in a letter sent out to alumni and friends by Benny McNeal, secretary of the CC Alumni Association. Dinner, Buffet style by the Ladies' Advisory Board, 6:30 p.m. Plans for a Greater Cedarville College by President Ira D. Vaynhinger and President J.A. Finney of the Board of Trustees. Basket ball game between varsity and Alumni. It will be a game worth seeing. A social hour when you may receive old times, trip the light fantastic, or solve world problems. You are invited. It will help the Ladies to plan if you will call to reserve a place. It is rumored that some old grads are planning to paint the town and that night. Wonder who would do that?

More things are wrought by prayer than man hath dreamed of. Believing that colleges with evangelical back grounds long ago instituted a Day of Prayer for Colleges. The day this year is Thursday, February 7. Cedarville College will observe the day with a service at 10 a.m. The address of the occasion will be given by the Reverend E. Howard McClintock, pastor of the Northminster Presbyterian Church, Springfield, Ohio. The devotional service will be in charge of the student body. The public is cordially invited.

With the enrollment of a group of fellows, the Y.M.C.A. has been reorganized. Robert K. Allen, is president, John Sanders, vice-president, and Bud Irvine, secretary-treasurer. Thursday programs are planned as follows: first and third, separate Y meetings; second, student body; fourth, Joint Y's; fifth, current events. In an effort to keep abreast of world affairs, a fifteen minute period is given to current events each Thursday.

John T. Hawker, Jr., veteran of World War II, with three and a half years of service at home, in Africa, and Europe entered college this week. Mr. Hawker resides in Beavercreek Township.

The Varsity basketball team turned in a victory with its first game. The game was the first game of double-header, played at Jamestown, as a benefit affair in support of the fight to rid our country of the dread disease Polio. At center was John Sanders, Bud Irvine, Ben Cummings, and M. Talbot were at forward positions and W. Talbot and K. Trout were guards. These opponents were a team of ex-service men. Plans are going forward to have a number of games during this last half of the season.

Dean Steele spoke on the subject of John Barleycorn, Friend or Foe of Mankind, Tuesday at Chapel. The definition and properties of alcohol were given, and a number of instances were cited to show that the best plan as to the old boy is Total Abstinence. Abraham Lincoln said, Liquor may have its defenders, but no defense.

Robert Collins, son of Mrs. A. Gordon Collins, Xenia, CO '31, was recently promoted from the rank of Major to that of Lt. Col. Dr. Collins is at present on the staff of Western Reserve Medical School, research department. He recently returned from several years service, much of which was spent on Trinidad Island, off the coast of South America. Congratulations on the promotion, Colonel.

Wilberforce Plans International Day

Wilberforce plans the 16th annual international day on February 12 at the University. It is a college movement for advancing international and interracial co-operation and fellowship. Student delegations from some 100 colleges in Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan have been invited. Prominent speakers from over the country will be on the program.

Mother-Killer Enters A Plea Of Guilty

A 22-year old former sailor, Russell Eugene Koons pleads guilty this week to first degree murder of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Koons, Springfield. He entered the home while his mother was in bed asleep and killed her with a hatchet. She was 40 years old. He had a dishonorable discharge from the Navy and one report is he had demanded money of his mother earlier in the day and it was refused owing to his physical condition.

INDIANA CHECKS SALE OF KAISER-FRAZER STOCK

Ohio last week stopped the sale of the Kaiser-Frazer Company stock in this state. Indiana has also taken the same steps to protect its citizens. The new company formed to manufacture automobiles has signed a CIO contract. The firm was boat builders for the war on a "cost-plus" basis.

Con. Clarence J. Brown Answers President's 'State of Union' Speech

Published reports of the speech of Congressman Clarence Brown before broadcast last Wednesday night when it was Thursday evening, has disappointed many Republicans. In response to numerous telephone calls the Herald gives the broadcast speech in full in this issue.

Congressman Clarence J. Brown in a broadcast last Thursday evening answered President Truman's "fireside chat" at the request of his fellow Republican member in Congress. The address follows:

My Fellow Americans:

"As a member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States I wish to speak to you briefly about your business, the business of living. It is a business touching the lives of one hundred and forty million Americans, every day, every hour, every minute. Then American people want a fair chance to work, and to earn a decent living, to give little for their old age, and to give their children an education for a start in life. They want a decent home in which to live. They want a strong America. They want their war bonds to be redeemed, when due, with the same kind of dollars which they loaned to Uncle Sam. They want the buying power of the dollar and their hard-earned savings preserved. They want opportunity to better their lot, to live a contented, happy and secure life.

To help them in their work-a-day existence, the American people today desire the form of representative government which has been described in the Constitution of the United States. They reserved to themselves the right to petition, the right to address to the Congress a statement of their desires in public matters. They expected that necessary legislation would be passed by the Congress, created to represent the people. Therefore the very first thing they said in their Constitution, in Article I, section 1, reads: "All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives." They also said in Article II that "The executive power shall be vested in a President . . .". In Article III they provided for "the judicial power of the United States . . .".

They did not say that the Executive may make laws. They did not say that the courts may enact legislation. The American people did say that legislation is to be enacted by Senators and by members of the House of Representatives elected by the people themselves.

The President may or may not approve what the Congress does. In his discretion, he may veto a legislative act of the Congress—but the people through their duly elected representatives can always exercise their will on legislation, when they wish to do so, for the Congress may override a veto. The President's positive function in the law-making process may be described as really.

The President possesses the right

Xenia Twp. Plans Consolidated School

Xenia Township Board of Education plans to eliminate eight one-room schools and form a consolidated school somewhere in the township. The township is the only one in the county that has not the modern consolidated system. There are 263 pupils in the various schools and in addition 98 tuition paid students of the township in the Xenia City High School. The tax duplicate is four and one-half million, being the second largest in the county. The present condition in the township is said to be the result of a bitter factional fight over control of the schools some years ago. For a number of years many of the township high school pupils came to Cedarville to get the Ag course.

FORD COMPANY SAYS OPA PRICES HOLD-UP PRODUCTION

The New Dealers made a great noise about the Ford Automobile Co. signing the CIO contract. Now Ford informs the government and public it will cost $900 more to build a car and that prices to the public must be raised if you are to get a car. After all what has the increased wage rate gained the union if the factory does not operate. The union can start to boost for higher prices or go back to the old wage rate. Young Ford may not be a novice at the auto game after all, and probably Ford and the Steel company are not so far apart. Mr. Truman can hold to old prices but he cannot produce cars, clothing, washing machines or radios.

Military Training Opposed By Ministers

Compulsory military training has been condemned by some 2,500 Ohio ministers in convention at Columbus this week. The ministers appeal for treaty agreements among the larger powers to eliminate military training in each country. The ministers endorsed the Fair Employment Practices bill which the South opposes owing to the race issue. The Taft-Wagner-Elender housing bill was endorsed. The convention opposed a representative or ambassador to a church even if it claims to be a state. Dr. William S. Shimer, president of Marietta College, said in a speech it was too late "to prevent a third world war" and predicted it would come in the next 20 years. He says: "Nothing can prevent war but religion and education."

WESLEY WEDS ENTERTAIN

The Wesley Weds were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Brewer last Wednesday evening with a "Farewell Party" for Mr. and Mrs. William Boyce, who are leaving soon for the University of Tenn. After a covered dish supper, Pres. Marvin Agnor conducted a short business session. Devotions were given by Mrs. Carl Ritenour. A gift was presented to the Boyce's by the group. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Agnor were assistant hosts. The February class party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wisecup.

Auto Theft Thug Shoots Deputy Sheriff Earl Confer

Deputy Sheriff Earl C. Confer, 53, was shot to death early Tuesday, and Deputy Sheriff Joseph Anderson, was shot in the left leg, when they attempted to hold up two Cincinnati thugs at Main and Columbus Streets, Xenia.

FARM GROUP CALL STRIKE TO HOLD FOOD

EDGAR, Neb., farmers, joined with Oklahoma farmers in a nation-wide farmers "strike against strikes" and agreement has been reached that farmers should withhold their products from market until industrial disputes are settled.

V. Hubert Johnson, stated 271 farmers at a meeting organized to stop strikes by refusing to ship and also demand higher prices for all farm and dairy products to make up for the increased cost of industrial products the farmer must purchase. Johnson says a tentative date for starting the strike has been set for Feb. 1 to 15. He says: "Our sons are coming back from service and they feel pretty sore about the farm situation."

Meantime Gayle G. Armstrong, who represents the Agriculture Department since President Truman took over the industry, says he cannot get production unless farmers market hogs and cattle in greater numbers. Some plants may have to be closed if there is not more stock shipped to the Chicago market. The first week of government operation of the packing plants is said to show a huge financial loss. This loss falls on the stockholders and the public gets only a bit of meat and no butter of any consequence. If farmers continue to hold back stock shipments another week it is reported the government will be forced to increase cattle and hog prices to the farmers or turn the big packing plants back to the owners.

Clarence Brown To Run Again

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanche, who has represented the seventh district in Washington since January, 1939, filed his declaration of candidacy and supporting petitions yesterday for the Republican nomination. The primary is May 7th. The Blanche newspaperman was formerly lieutenant-governor and secretary of state of Ohio before his election as congressman from this district. He has served continuously since that time.

DAYTON ELECTRIC STRIKE STILL BEING DISCUSSED

The proposed strike of CIO employees of the Dayton Power & Light Co. set for Wednesday night, was postponed while negotiations were conducted between the union and the company. A delegation of some 100 farmers called on Gov. Lausche from southern counties to protest the proposed strike but the Governor was without power to force either side to come to terms. It is admitted that higher wage rates means ultimately higher electric light rates.

Henry H. Fackler, Plymouth, O., at the conference stated there could be a food production strike against the power workers strike. Fackler also said if we do not sell food until strikers go back to work, that's one way of ending the strike. You can always get at a man through his stomach.

YELLOW SPRINGS HAS NEW PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR

Rev. Herbert S. Schroeder has been installed as minister of the Presbyterian Church in Yellow Springs. He succeeds Rev. Gale W. Engle, who resigned last fall.

GOING TO CALIFORNIA

Word was received here Thursday that Lt. Pierre J. McCorkell, who has been at Ft. Sill, Okla., for several months, was now in a separation center and upon his release would leave at once for California, where he will visit his brother, Rocco McCorkell and wife, before coming home.

Prosecutor Marcus Shoup will file charges of first degree murder against both Evans and Tucker. Both thugs had stole a Cincinnati car and went to Akron and Cleveland. They abandoned the one and stole another.

The funeral for Confer was held Thursday in Xenia at the Need Funeral Home, burial taking place at Spring Valley. Both men had boasted in the James restaurant they "bumped" a man in Cleveland and would get anyone that got in front of them. They are also credited with the statement they were going back to aid in the strike of bread bakers in that city.

Cedarville College vs Wilberforce Team

Cedarville College varsity basketball team will play its first home game since before World War II Monday night at Alford Memorial Gym. This is the first of a home and home game that has been scheduled with Wilberforce hardwood artists. The odds would seem to favor the "Force" battlers due to experience but when these two friendly rivals get together there is always an interesting game. Time, 8 P.M. Monday evening.

COM. ROBERT MacGREGOR ARRIVED HOME SUNDAY

Commander Robert W. MacGregor of the U. S. N. R. arrived here last Sunday to join his family after an exploration trip to Japan and record a record of the vessels damaged for the U. S. Navy at Japan. MacGregor was liaison officer of the 5th fleet station. On the round trip by plane he made stops at Hawaii and Guam, also making a survey report from the two points. In completing his five years of active service he was released with a four months credit of leave. As to the future MacGregor will be retained as an officer in the Naval Reserve with the same standing as his credit of Commander, when released from active duty.

OSBORN COUPLE MARRIED IN COURT HOUSE

County commissioners office in the courthouse was the unusual setting for the marriage of an Osborn couple, Mrs. Mavis Woodward and Henry Cecil Cavell.

Issued a marriage license in probate court Monday, the couple made arrangements for Rev. W. G. Neal, pastor of the Xenia St. Methodist Church, Beavercreek, to meet them there.

Permission to perform the ceremony was obtained and E. J. Ball, chief deputy county auditor, and Raymond G. Spahn, clerk of the county board of commissioners, served as witnesses. The bride formerly of Glastonbury, Conn., is employed at Wright Field. Cavell resided in Morehead, Ky., before moving to Osborn.

TAXPAYER'S GIFT TO THE BRITISH

The request of President Truman that this nation make a "loan" to England of four billion dollars just about puts the President in the same class as "FDR", the "best President-England ever had." The President cannot honestly say this grant would be a loan but that it would be a gift and all one has to do is to turn to the record of transactions in the past and what we have done in two wars and the sacrifice this nation has made in blood and money.

The Congress is likely to have a lengthy debate over the proposal and the longer it goes the more the members will hear from the home folks. Our boys returning from the European Theatre of war are not singing the praises of the British during their enforced stay. When you talk in billions you are talking to the younger generation and the oncoming generations that must pay this gift in taxes.

Of course all the British sympathizers like Kalfenborn, Baukage, and other radio commentators and the host of New Dealers that expect to take down commissions during the exchange trading, are shouting from the house tops for passage of the Truman bill. To hear these British sympathizers plead for the British, one wonders how and why they remain in this country, and why they do not become citizens under King George and his monarchy. We can suggest one reason, and that is these radio commentators draw princely salaries here from the broadcasting companies, something unheard of in England. The public should not be influenced by the radio broadcasts, which in some instances, like during the war, the propaganda was paid for by the British. Winston Churchill is not in this country just to enjoy the Florida sunshine. He is guiding the paw of the British lion into your pocketbook.

One argument is that England is "broke", so are our boys returning from service. Should we give to England and ignore a bonus to those who spent the best of their years as a gift to this country to the European nations, especially England, who was on her back when we went to her rescue. Another argument is that by making this loan England can restore her industry and again enter the world market—under selling American made goods as she has always done with her top wage of $3.50 per day against our ten and twelve dollar wages. England has little that we need, unless it is the rubber she controls in the Pacific Islands, and we could control that if necessary on the basis of what we have given the world in winning the war. England only controls these islands, as she does India, for the taxes she can extract from these unfortunate people that populate the islands.

Another argument is that if we loan the four billion England will be our best customer for surplus goods. What are these surplus goods and where are they? There is no surplus of anything in this country. We did have a surplus of wheat but so much has been shipped to the European countries the past six months, our surplus is at a low ebb and the national millers are now concerned where they can get wheat for flour if present shipments continue.

Mr. Truman is but following out the plan and promise made by FDR and Harry Hopkins during the war. The public should have more to say about this "loan" than even Congress, for it is the public that must foot the bill. We suggest that if such a loan is made that Congress pass the necessary legislation to place a special low income tax on every man and woman of legal age without exceptions and that this money be used for the British loan. This special income tax should be in addition to what we pay now for the support of the government. This would be a guide to members of Congress as to whether the public is favorable to or opposed to the British loan.

In as much as we have given England several billion in lend-lease and war equipment, including food for her army and her citizens, it certainly cannot be said that we have taken a selfish attitude in the "good neighbor" policy we hear so much about. No one need mention the hundreds of millions the British now owe us on the first war, which she has refused to pay.

Mr. Truman may think it good policy to give away what he does not own, even as a citizen, but that has been the New Deal policy.

FOREIGNERS NOT WANTED

Even a newspaper publisher that migrates south of the Mason and Dixon line is being termed a "foreigner" as we read of the gubernatorial campaign being waged down in "Jaw-Jaw", where Americanism is measured with a Democratic yardstick and where Jeff Davis still is held in public favor over Abraham Lincoln. If the recent southern radio speaker is representing a movement to push one certain candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, he surely was hitting below the belt against our neighbor, James M. Cox. The political speaker shouted it "Was time to drive these foreign radio owners and newspaper publishers out of the state." Publisher Cox owns the Atlanta Journal and a radio station in that city and his meddling in the Democratic primary seemed to strike a discordant note. Well, there are a lot of Ohio Democrats that never have swallowed the Rooseveltian-Communist brand of politics while the editorial pages of the Cox publications no longer read as if Thomas Jefferson, Grover Cleveland and even Woodrow Wilson ever lived. It is no wonder the "Jaw-Jaw" want no more foreigners. But how can they ridicule Cox and then preach Rooseveltian ideas right from Moscow. Mrs. Eleanor is now in Moscow confabbing with Stalin while the U. S. pays her $12,000 a year and all expenses to attend the UNO Conference. The southern brethren are down on the negro at all times, except for all domestic work.

"HARRY THE HOP" is dead! It now falls to the radio and daily commentators to dress him up as they did FDR after the last chapter written at Hot Springs, Ga. Harry was the "fixer" for FDR in both domestic and world politics and he a special friend of Joe Stalin and Churchill. He was the "lend-lease" boy that enabled England to have the best president in its history of that nation, even outshining old "Queen Lib", that made a lot of history in her day. Harry knew a lot of old world kings, who made quick acquaintance knowing he signed FDR's name to Uncle Sam's checkbook. Harry never was in any business, nor profession, being suitable for FDR because he had never done anything to win laurels until he began passing out the American taxpayer's money to foreigners. Now the CIO Guild newspaper editorial writers and the "pink nad red" radio commentators are busy plugging roses, just like what happened after the Hot Springs event. It was only a few days afterwards that history began recording events, especially "no lid-lifting" of the Hot Springs casket. All sort of secret promises began to unfold to the discredit of this nation, so by this time the tear-bearers became silent, lest more small might be uncovered.

The early morning radio commentators that carry not even the Tuetonic spelling of their names but always had a good word for Joe and the father country, speared a lot of hot air over Harry's corpse. Following the floral tributes in words the commentator proceed to reveal the unpleasant news that FDR had made a secret agreement between Churchill and Stalin that Russia was to have certain islands important to this country for future security. Sec. Byrnes just back from London brought back the word and "what shall we do about it?" The facts are Russia had no part of any consequence in the war over these islands. It was American money, the lives of hundreds of our boys, and through the Hopkins FDR brand of diplomacy, Russia is to get the prize without a cent of it. Yet time after time FDR announced publicly there were no secret agreements. Even Mr. Truman while Vice President knew nothing about it. History will write all that is necessary. The names of FDR and Hopkins will be kept fresh in the memory of income taxpayers that must pay the bill for years to come.

Every how and then someone asks an important question, "How come Winnie Churchill is over here in Florida when the big conference is going on in London?" That is not hard to answer for Winnie is one of the minority with the labor government running the affairs in England. He cannot sit in on the UNO conference.

As we come in contact with farmers we find bitterness very strong against the wave of strikes and one as much as the other. All begin to realize they are to be made the goat and pay much of the increased cost of all they purchase and with 1914 dollars they have received for their crops. Most of them are making little effort to market stock, especially if they have the feed. Local sentiment in the county is about on par with outbursts in western states where the farmer is justified to go on strike and hold back food especially to the cities. "No work no eat," seems to be the motto. The western cattle men are holding back cattle to starve the market and to force higher prices. If labor can get more by striking the cattlemen in the west are willing to give it a trial. All the AAA and thousands of ag men on government payroll will soon start the appeal to be "patriotic" and take the 1914 dollars while labor takes the 1946 dollars. Uncle Sam even refuses to consider the labor of the 18-year old boy as worth anything in computing farm costs, and neither do the Truman New Dealers consider his blood of value and for that reason want him in the army for gunfodder in some foreign country.

The printing pressmen of the three Cleveland newspapers are still out on strike at this writing. There have been no newspapers in that city since Jan. 5, a period of 26 days. The papers handed out increased wages some time ago amounting to a million dollars a year. The pressmen want more of what Truman calls "take-home" pay, which would be more than ever paid in the city. It was the Truman statement that there should be higher wages for all, even presidents at $100,000 a year that started the strike movement. Publishers of Democratic papers should adopt the Truman suggestion made recently that the companies should open their books to his "dumbbell fact-finders" that represent the CIO.

The Democratic filibuster still has the Senate floor and no other business can be transacted without consent of the southern delegation. Even the President of the United States dares not try to break that strike. The bill opposed by the South is one that has been in force in the north for years in most states. It requires equal right in employment irrespective of color, race or creed. The Senator that hit back last week at northerners created and explosion when he said the members that wanted the bill did not practice equal rights, neither did the "white House" members of the Supreme Court, and other government officials—receive the negro on equal terms socially in their home, public places as well as for employment. It is singular how quiet Phil Murray, as head of the CIO, is on the equal right issue for many of his unions have the negro shut out in certain industry except common labor that most white men will not do.

Senator Millard Tydings, Dem., of Maryland, has about all he can stand of the UNO, Russia's conference with Jimmy Byrnes a lackey-boy for Stalin and England. Tydings says the UNO is a farce and operated for the benefit of Russia. Tydings may have started something just at the time President Truman wants to give England some three and a half billion of your money, or what you will pay in 1946 in income taxes. The UNO is part of the Roosevelt-Hopkins-Stalin dream of world politics to keep the heel on all small powers for economic purposes.

PROTECTIVE Planning

The word, PREARRANGEMENT means foresight and precaution. It carries with it assurance of protection. Applied to the recording of personal funeral wishes, it describes an action that has been taken by unnumbered thousands. Today more people than ever before are pre-planning services.

The benefits of our Pre-arrangement Plan are described in our folder, "The Sensible Thing To Do." Ask for a copy of it. Not the slightest obligation is involved.

New Development in Poultry Buildings

Asbestos and Mineral Wool Used Effectively

Something new and modern in poultry house construction can be found on the Tenderex farms at Middletown, Ky.

The farm was planned with the co-operation of the Sticker Poultry company. The decision to build durable buildings having long life with low maintenance, led to exhaustive study and experimentation. The results found are of interest to farmers generally. Using Gothic-type house, prefabricated arch construction, with the framing for the roof and wall combined in one unit, not only was a saving made in original costs, but considerable saving was effected in future heating costs.

The 33 houses on the Tenderex farms are all 24 by 30 feet, with the continuous arches anchored to a concrete foundation. Sheathing is of tongue and groove covered with thick but asphalt shingles. These type shingles are easily moulded to the contour of any roof. Their gray tone offers harmonious contrast with the red hollow tile used in the end walls.

Mineral wool was selected to insulate the interior wall, which is lined with asbestos board. To eliminate dampness, the floor consists of cinder fill and four inches of hollow tile, topped with 2 1/2 inches of concrete.

An important factor in selecting asphalt shingles, concrete, hollow tile, mineral wool and asbestos board was the fire-resistant construction these materials provide.

Postwar Machinery Pickup-Baler

This is an automatic self-feeding, self-tilling baler with bale separation, making it a one man operation job. Neatly formed and firm bales of sliced hay weighing 40 to 65 pounds can be turned out at the rate of three to five bales per minute for windrow pickup baling. The construction saves leaves and assures that all the hay is carried into the bale chamber. It is a McCormick-Deering postwar improvement.

Danger! Sheep Scab
May Be on Way Back
Will sheep scab stage another comeback—once more causing millions of dollars in losses, as it did a few years ago?

Dr. Floyd Cross of the American Veterinary Medical Association and government authorities report such a possibility. "The condition is present to an alarming extent in the Midwest," Dr. Cross reports.

If sheep show loss of wool, formation of scabs on the skin, or a tendency to rub against fences and pens, the condition should be called to the attention of a veterinarian. Through greatly diminished wool production, loss in body weight, general unthriftiness and death, scabies play their toll.

The scab is caused by a small mite, barely visible to the unaided eye, but can be brought under effective control.

The only effective treatment is the external application of some medicinal agent that will kill the scab mites. This can be best accomplished by dipping, followed by isolation. The dips recommended by the USDA are made from lime-sulfur or nicotine.

Fumigation Practices

Carbon disulphide is the most common fumigant used on the farm. It is a liquid that quickly evaporates into a heavier-than-air gas. Operators should avoid inhaling the vapors or spilling the liquid on clothing. Extreme caution must be taken against fire.

Do not fumigate when the temperature is below 60 degrees. It is best to start late in the afternoon when the air is calm. It will take 24 hours.

Return to Elegance Late Trend in Paris

Theme Expressed by Rich Fabrics and Jewels.

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

In Paris collections it is apparent that there is a return to elegance in the fashion realm. It appears in endless ways, such as the greater number of evening gowns, some of them trailing. It is sensed also in the many sophisticated black afternoon dresses which are adding an inch to an inch and a half to daytime lengths.

Hips are often accented by embroidered pieces. Corduroy is made up horizontally for the most part. The Spanish note is seen in short boleros richly embroidered and worn with the afternoon gowns. There are many jet and passementerie embroideries. Fringe treatments, self-frayed from the fabric itself, are employed, especially in plaid woollens.

Daytime emphasis is on woolly, often fleecy fabrics, a reaction to prospects of another headless winter. These wintry fabrics are interesting in that they favor light colors such as gray, pale steel, putty and rose-beige. Small waistlines, rounded hips and drapes, accent on bustlines feminize the new silhouettes.

There is considerable velvet and crepe used for afternoon wear, often richly jet embroidered. Dinner gowns are graceful and slim developed in black velvet with front décolleté and short sleeves. Hand-some failles and rich brocades such as oyster white satins brocaded with large flowers.

Milliners turn to historical backgrounds for inspiration such as the Louis XV period. These are in velvet or felt. Toques consisting for the most part of an enormous rose posed over one eye after the manner of the roses worn in Fragonard paintings. Wide flat shapes are also endorsed, worn just showing the hair on the forehead. These are of fabric-draped felt and are in direct contrast to the beautifully draped imposing tall turbans shown, some of which are dramatically jewel-embroidered.

New Skirt Drape

This Gothic original takes the new front full skirt drape and artfully places it so as to slim the figure, with fullness flowing below a smooth torso and neckline. The drape influence repeats at the neck, skillfully handled to achieve a becomingly soft sweetheart line. This "little black dress" with its dramatic splash of flower color at the waist is designed for important occasions. The hat by Chanda tunes perfectly to the costume mood.

Furred Cloth Coats Make Fashion News

The short cloth coat with intriguing fur trim is taking over in a tremendous way for fall. The top news is luxurious wool coats with gorgeous borders that either trim the face hemline or are applied in a tuxedo manner down the front. Important is the style message of fur sleeves in cloth coats, such as the belted wool shorties in neutral shades that are fashioned with waist deep sleeves of black Persian. Interesting also is the cloth coat with a fur yoke. Contrasting the voluptuous fur trims is the use of fur in discreet ways, as for instance, the cloth coat that is bound all around the edges with Persian or beaver or other smooth peltry. There is also indication that one type fur will trim another. Designers are doing wonderful things with fur, not only in trimming but in accessories, and fur hats are being turned out in endless variations.

Color Contrast Extended To New Evening Dresses

The idea of color contrast is associated in our minds for the most part in connection with sports clothes and daytime dresses. It's interesting to note that this color technique is carrying on in the realm of formal evening gowns. In one instance a noted designer introduced a panel that extends from the right shoulder to the floor hemline of the dress. The panel is made up of lime and red, flashed against a black background.

YOUNG FARMERS STUDY LIVES TOOK

Howard Davison, extension specialist in Animal Husbandry will discuss the development of a livestock enterprise on the farm at the fourth of the series of Farm Business Short Course meetings next Tuesday. Subjects to be discussed include livestock fed requirement in relation to feed supplies, building arrangement and chore route on labor requirement, and standards of performance in measuring efficiency. A motion picture on building arrangement will be shown.

NEW MILK REGULATIONS TO BE EXPLAINED

A meeting of milk handlers, testers, board of health inspectors and officials was held at the Y. M. C. A. in Dayton, Monday, January 28, at 1:30 p.m. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the operation and practical application of the new Milk Regulations now in effect.

These regulations require platform testing for sediment and bacteria of all milk received at plants. Representatives of the State Department of Agriculture will explain the regulations and demonstrate methods of sediment testing, methylene blue testing, direct microscopic bacteria counting and record keeping.

STALLIONS FOR EXPORT

Purebred draft stallions of the Belgian and Percheron breed are in immediate demand by the Agricultural Rehabilitation Division of UNRRA. The county agent's office has a request for light draft stallions of good type, ranging from three to eight years of age, sound with good underpinning, free movers and service broke.

FRUIT GROWERS MEET AT CINCINNATI

The 79th annual meeting of the Ohio State Horticulture Society will be held at the Netherland Plaza Hotel, Cincinnati, February 6 and 7. Both production and marketing problems of tree and small fruits will have places on the program. A separate session for small fruit growers has been arranged at the meeting February 6th, Ohio and out-of-state experts will be on the speakers list.

SHIP EARLY FOR LEGUME SEED

Last year production of clover and alfalfa seeds was short and farmers will do well to ship early for their supply of seed this spring. Stocks of adapted seeds will be none too plentiful and farmers are warned against seedling legume seeds which were harvested in the South or Southwest.

IT PAYS TO SORT LAMBS

During January, the subsidy on lambs weighing more than 90 pounds is $2.66 per hundredweight. On ten lambs weighing 91 pounds this adds up to $24.11. Lambs weighing 85 to 90 pounds draw a subsidy of $2.00 per cwt. For ten lambs weighing 85 pounds, this would amount to $17.00. Adding the 6 pounds per head helps the feeder in position to gain three ways; dollars for the increased weight advancing the grade, ups the selling price, a higher subsidy.

LEGAL NOTICE

Callie Day, who last resided at Hill Street, Xenia, Ohio and whose present place of residence is unknown and cannot be ascertained, will take notice that on the 23 day of January, 1946, the plaintiffs Opal Massie and Golda Harper, filed their petition in the Common Pleas Court, Greene County, Ohio, against Callie Day et al, the same being Cause No. 24,251 in said court.

The prayer of said petition is for the construction of the will of W. R. Sessler, deceased, and that the plaintiff's title to the following described real estate to be quieted as against the defendant, Callie Day. Said real estate is situated in the county of Greene, state of Ohio, and township Silver Creek, and bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Beginning at a stone in the center of the Ervin Road corner to Albert Oglesbee and in the West line of Emma McMillen; thence with the center of said road and line of said McMillen, A. D. Robinson heirs and J. H. Fields north 5 deg. East 177.96 poles to a stone

Dramatically Styled Furs Have Look of Luxury and Distinction

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS is a season of fabulous furs, distinguished by dramatic styling. It would seem almost as if miracles are being performed in fur manipulation. The regulation coats of the past, designed for the most part to keep you warm, are no more. A new era dawned in fur coat design, one that is breath-taking in its luxury, in top-flight styling, in assured winter warmth and in all the fineness that women-of-fashion seek in fur coats.

Never a lovelier evening wrap could fancy picture than the exquisite stole of precious white Russian ermine shown in the magnificent fur revue presented recently in Chicago by the State street council. Note in the illustration herewith the superb grace and beauty of this enchanting evening wrap. The full deep cape at the back flows into wide front panels, which are heavily fringed with ermine tails. It is in such gracious modes as this that fur artistry reaches the ultimate.

The handsome coat illustrated at the right was also in the showing. This sumptuous model in black Russian Persian lamb brings a most important message in that it is high style this season to trim one fur with the same fur in striking color contrast. In this instance, natural gray Persian lamb is used in banded treatment about the wide bell sleeves of this very elegant black Persian coat. There is also a trend this season to trim one fur with another.

As to the kinds and types of fur in the fall and winter fashion picture, the list of fine peltry is most versatile. Coats of opossum, mouton, muskrat, raccoon, nutria and natural leopard have the look college girls want. Beaver is also high in favor and gray furs are very popular. The new "rage" among the younger set is daytime coats of white fur. Street furs stress mink of every type, which tunes right into the "brown" vogue that is sweeping the country. Mink-eyed muskrat makes a good showing too, while Persian lamb is a stand-by with women who like elegance without ostentation. Beaver has high fashion rank this season, and quite a little natural squirrel and seal are on the list.

The gorgeousness of evening furs baffles description. Rare platinum mink expresses luxury at its highest. Blond mink is charming and new looking. Fine black Persian lamb remains first choice with women of conservative tastes. Lovely white ermine, too, is scheduled for a busy social season. As to the dramatic coat silhouettes, they radiate a feeling of opulence as much as do the magnificent furs themselves. In that this season's coats are cut in such lavish lines as shown in the huge graceful sleeves with their wide and luxurious turn-back cuffs. There's grace and beauty too. In the generously-cut coat itself which often stresses a flare hemline. And as to lengths, it's the shorter types that major in the style parade. However, the full length models are not out of the picture. A smart model shown is a full length opossum sports coat.

Washington Letter

ernments are expected to total some where between fifteen and twenty billion dollars, and if granted, the money will come directly from the Federal Treasury, but indirectly from either borrowed or received in taxes from the American people.

President Truman, in his message, accented the necessity of holding prices at present levels in order to prevent inflation. At the same time he urged higher wages and salaries for all workers, including those on the public payroll, and the enactment of numerous laws which would require huge Federal expenditures. In fact, his message contained a promise of some benefit or other to every pressure group and other element of our population.

Most Americans will be obtaining their meat from a new butcher boy during the next few weeks—Hon. Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture. Last Friday night at midnight, by order of the President under his war-time powers, the strike-bound meat packing plants of the country were taken over and Mr. Anderson was designated to operate them in the name of the government. Striking workers belonging to the American Federation of Labor immediately went back to work, for the government, but C.I.O. members refused to return to the packing plants until and unless promised the increased pay they demanded.

from the American people are paid by the little fellows who earn less than $5,000 a year. If you took every penny of the incomes above $10,000 per year you could not run this government a single week. You cannot double the taxes on the big income taxpayers, for they are already paying up to 85 percent of their total income to the Federal Treasury. Therefore, any increase which may come in taxes will hit the little fellows, and little businesses, and will be wrung from the toil, worry and effort of millions of Americans. They have a right to be concerned with this business of government, for it is their for it is their living. They must have concern with the business of living, or it is their living. They must have a concern with the kind of policies this administration and the President have been seeking to force upon the American people, for they must pay for them. They are rightfully concerned about these policies, for the American people know full well years, are perfectly aware that the Roosevelt domestic policies failed. The American people know full well that after nine and one-half years of deficit financing, there were still more than 10 million people unemployed, just before the war. They know that a continuation of such policies, at four times the cost, spells ruin for the American institutions, and will result in government domination and bureaucratic control over every farm, business in the nation. They know it will mean each individual citizen's life will be ordered and directed from some government agency in Washington.

The American people, as all history proves, know that the real key to financial well-being lies in production, not scarcity; in work, not strikes; in a sound economy, not inflation. The American people want no further cheapening of the dollar or tricky government financing. Instead, they want a program to curtail government extravagance. They want a reversal of the policies which spell economic ruin.

Fellow Americans, read the President's message, as it was read to your Congress, "Read it and weep", for it is your government, it's your money. You'll get the kind of government you want if you ask for it—for it is your Congress.

I have sought to make perfectly clear the respective functions of the people, the Congress and the President. As a team, working together for our common objectives, we can develop American opportunity as never before. We are at once the envy and the object toward which turn the distressed peoples of the entire world. So it behooves us to re-unite our domestic situation in the light of reality, not fancy; with an understanding of the colossal problems which will beset us, not with the idea of gaining partisan political advantage. In this light, let us consider further the budget message of the President. No walk of life is overlooked. No pressure group is neglected. There is a promise to each. There is a persistent commitment to programs and policies, highly controversial in nature, and many, if not all, lacking support in the Congress. Underlying all is adherence to the utterly fallacious principle of deficit financing, inevitably inflationary in result. It begins to appear that the Administration is seeking to pump into the fiscal system more dollars, regardless of their value.

The real test of the dollar is what will it buy? All the current talk about take-home pay and the group-jockeying for advantage in born of the value of the dollar is depreciating in terms of what it will buy. You cannot hold down prices and prevent inflation through extravagance and wasteful spending of the people's money. So it is that the Congress, through

Rural Telephones May Get Federal Loans

Bill Would Provide For Private Expansion

By WALTER SHEAR

WNU Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C.—"The Party Line," long the butt of jokes and ridicule, may be on its way out if a bill intended to "provide or improve telephone service in rural areas" becomes law under the new 79th congress.

Considerable interest has been aroused in the measure introduced by Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.), which would provide for a special fund of 100 million dollars and create a federal agency to be known as the "Rural Telephone administration."

This administration would administer the law and the fund with authority to make loans to telephone companies, or to individuals, corporations, states, municipalities, utility districts, or to non-profit cooperative associations, also to the Rural Electrification administration for the purpose of financing the construction, rehabilitation, modernization and operation of telephone systems, exchange lines, or other facilities for furnishing telephone service to persons in rural areas who are not receiving adequate service. The measure also provides for improvement or betterment of existing service to persons in these areas.

Senator Hill, as a result of considerable study on the rural telephone problem asserted that in 1920 almost 2 1/2 million farm homes had telephones and that by 1940 this number had decreased to about 1 1/2 million, a decrease of about 40 percent. Rates for farm telephone service have increased from about $1.30 to an average of $1.80 at the present time. He also pointed out that 75 per cent of the nation's farms numbering 4,166,000 still do not have telephone service.

30,000 smaller telephone companies in the nation would be the chief beneficiaries under the bill as borrowers from the fund to modernize their plants, rebuild existing lines and construct new ones. Loans would be made on a self-liquidating basis at an interest rate of 1 1/2 per cent with 35 years in which to repay the principal.

Handy Milk Stool

The strap-on milk stool will save considerable time as well as provide another step forward in proper sanitation. After the stool has been strapped on, it need not be touched again until milking is finished.

Strap the stool around the waist, wash hands, then start milking. Bacteria count will be reduced considerably. If more than one leg is desired, the conventional three legs can be added to this type of stool.

Few Cheese Bandages

Shortage of cotton cloth for manufacturing bandages for cheese threatens to cause serious damage to the cheese industry. The bandage around the cheese makes the rind, explains W. W. Price, of the University of Wisconsin.

Without the bandages, cheese cannot be pressed or the rind formed without cracks. If the cheese has cracks, molds form in the air pockets and the quality of the cheese is considerably lower.
